February 2016 Newsletter

It's Not Too Late to Register for the Disaster 101 Workshop CALL TODAY!!

The Central Nebraska Economic Development District is sponsoring a Disaster 101 Workshop scheduled for Wednesday, February 24, 2016, at the Atkinson Community Center, from 9 am to 4:30 pm., titled "Disaster 101 - Preparing Your Community for Resiliency and Recovery." The registration deadline is February 19, 2016.

Topics in this workshop will include: who is responsible for disaster activities, financial recovery, funding resources, plans and resources, debris management, communications, how to respond to disasters, mutual aid agreements, disaster declarations, volunteer management, and will also include presentations about the Wayne tornado and the South Sioux City floods.

It is not a matter of "if" a disaster will strike your community, it is a matter of "when." Being prepared will help your community recover quickly, and lead to resiliency for your citizens and businesses. The Economic Development Administration is finding communities that are prepared for disasters are more resilient and recover quicker than those communities that are not.

This workshop is being brought to you through a partnership between the Central Nebraska

Economic Development District, the Emergency Managers for Region 24, Region 26, Custer County and Holt County, and the Nebraska Emergency Management Association.

To register for this workshop, visit our website at www.cnedd.org and access the registration form through our "EVENTS" section. For questions, please contact Judy Petersen at judy.petersen@cnedd.org or by phone at 402-340-0106.
